

- Retro-Commissioning Engineer, New York City Office
- Full-Time Position
- Start Date: As soon as possible

Salary: Based on Experience

Role: Retro-Commissioning Engineer / Project Manager

- Manage all aspects of commissioning and retro-commissioning projects with minor supervision from scoping, pricing, overseeing of field work, client relationships, analysis and final report writing.
- Lead retro-commissioning projects with your knowledge of the design of mechanical and electrical systems for commercial, institutional and light industrial facilities as they relate to energy conservation.
- Lead RCx meetings with internal technical team and client meetings
- Assist our LEED project managers with commissioning LEED credits, field work, and documentation
- Minimal travel – outside of New York City area up to 10 times a year

Experience / Skill Requirements

- BS Mechanical Engineering
- Minimum 2 years of experience commissioning and/or retro-commissioning commercial buildings over 50,000 sq. ft.
- Experience with major HVAC equipment operations and functional testing
- A major plus if you have one or more of the following:
 - Registered Commissioning Professional, Professional engineering license, Certified Energy Manager
 - Excellent writing skills required (writing samples required)
 - Excellent communication and time management skills
 - Comfortable in a fast-paced environment
 - Interested in becoming part of the fast growing Green Building Industry at one of New York City's premier sustainability companies

Benefits:

- Medical, Dental and Vision benefits
- 401k
- Performance Bonus Program

Contact:

If interested, please email a cover letter and resume to Chris Cayten (ccayten@codegreensolutions.com).